Пояснение.

Dialogue A

A: What took you so long? The manager's furious.

B: There was an accident on the motorway, and the traffic was unbelievably slow. It took me three hours to get here.

A: Oh, yeah, I just heard the news on the radio - that there was a serious accident with three cars and a bus. Now, quick, get these papers, make copies and send them to our partners. Mrs. Lewis has been asking where they are.

B: Right. Hope she will forgive me.

A: Anyway, it's good that you've arrived safe and sound.

Dialogue B

A: Late again, Jim.

B: Sorry, Ms West. I overslept. My alarm didn't go off this morning. I promise, it will never, ever happen again.

A: Unfortunately, it's not a new story, Jim. It happens almost every week, even twice a week sometimes.

B: I know but I did set the alarm last night, honestly. I don't know what happened.

A: Perhaps you should buy a new one. Now..., take your seat and open your book at page twelve. We're discussing the article on traffic congestion.

Dialogue C

A: Oh, my goodness, the traffic is so slow. It's driving me mad! We've been in this traffic jam for an hour already.

B: Calm down. I think there's an accident ahead. We can't do anything about it.

A: Can I open the window - it's getting hot in here.

B: Sure. But turn down the music. It's too loud.

A: Why don't we take a different route? I'll look at the map and see what we can do.

Dialogue D

A: I can't believe how bad the weather is today!

B: Yes, according to the weather report, we will be flying through a pretty nasty storm.

A: Won't they cancel the flight? I don't really like flying in this kind of weather.

B: Cancel? No. Boarding has already been announced. Don't worry. Usually the pilot gets enough altitude to fly above it. I am sure everything will be fine.

A: I hope so.

A—2 The manager's furious....get these papers, make copies and send them to our partners.

B—5 Sorry, Ms West. I overslept...take your seat and open your book at page twelve.

C—3 the traffic is so slow...traffic jam... Why don't we take a different route?

D—1 Won't they cancel the flight? Boarding has already been announced.

Пояснение.

Speaker A. There are many ways to learn foreign languages but the most effective is when people do it at school. I believe languages should be taught starting from the age of three or four. Children acquire new words and grammar patterns easily, while playing and communicating. They can imitate sounds and they enjoy reciting poems and singing songs even when they don't understand the meaning of some words.

Speaker B. Some of my friends started learning foreign languages when they started to work. I myself took a Spanish course when our company signed several contracts with Spanish partners. Now it's not a problem for me to write a letter in Spanish or make a telephone call. It's easier and quicker to solve any problems if you are able to communicate without interpreters.

Speaker C. Our age is the age of information, and it's very important for people in different businesses to be able to exchange information quickly. For scholars and researchers it's even more crucial than for others. If they know foreign languages, they can read publications in magazines and on the Internet and be well-informed about the most recent discoveries of their colleagues in other countries.

Speaker D. I know lots of people who started learning languages at a very mature age. They say it's fun and I agree with them. I'm taking an Italian course at the moment and I enjoy every minute in our classroom. We play linguistic games, sing songs and ...we talk about everything. It's like getting back to school again. Besides, I've got new friends there.

Speaker E. I can't understand why people fuss so much about foreign languages. Nowadays they are getting even less important than they used to be. All good films and books are translated by professional interpreters. TV broadcasts programmes in different languages too, so you can choose your language in the language option mode. And there are all kinds of programmes that can translate any text for you in seconds.

A—4 Children acquire new words and grammar patterns easily, while playing and communicating.

B—2 I myself took a Spanish course when our company signed several contracts with Spanish partners. Now it's not a problem for me to write a letter in Spanish or make a telephone call.

C—1 For scholars and researchers it's even more crucial than for others

D—6 I know lots of people who started learning languages at a very mature age. They say it's fun and I agree with them. I'm taking an Italian course at the moment and I enjoy every minute in our classroom.

E—5 All good films and books are translated by professional interpreters. TV broadcasts programmes in different languages too... and so on Security: Morning. I'm Thomas Richardson, the sports centre security. The lady at the reception said that your iPod's missing.

Jackie: Yes, that's right.

Security: Can I ask you a few questions?

Jackie: Sure. Go ahead.

Security: Your name is...?

Jackie: Jackie Lee.

Security: OK, Jackie, do you often visit our sports centre?

Jackie: Yes. My parents brought me to the centre three years ago and signed me up for the gym classes. Since then I've been coming here every Tuesday and Thursday and I never miss classes as the coach says that it's very important... not to miss...

Security: Right, but there are no morning gym classes today.

Jackie: Sometimes I come to the swimming pool, too. It doesn't happen very often — only when I have the time. Today is such a day — I have a morning off, so I decided to have a swim.

Security: Is it possible that you've forgotten your iPod somewhere in the centre? In the coffee bar or in the gym?

Jackie: No. I didn't use them today. I came to the centre quite early, bought a ticket to the swimming pool at the reception and went straight to the changing room and then to the pool. I haven't been either to the gym or to the bar. I left my iPod in the locker in the changing room but when I came back, it wasn't there.

Security: I see. Frankly speaking, I can't remember our visitors ever reporting stolen valuables; they often lose things, which are usually found and brought to the reception. However, this incident looks like a crime and we'll have to call the police I'm afraid. Jackie: Looks like that. Security: There's a special safe at the reception by the way. We strongly recommend that our visitors keep valuables and mopey there. The safe is free and available for all our visitors...

Jackie: Yes, I know about the safe, but neither my friends nor I ever use it. Maybe it's a bit careless but we've always left money, watches and phones in the changing rooms — nothing has ever happened.

Security: I'm calling the police.

Jackie: No, wait a moment. I think I can hear my iPod. It sounds like it's in the locker. Oh goodness, it's here in my boot. I put it inside the boot to not forget it.

Security: Fine. I'm glad you've found it.

Jackie: I'm really so sorry for all this trouble. My mum's right — I'm hopelessly absent-minded.

Security: It's OK.

Задание 9 № 1182 тип 9

Прочтите тексты и установите соответствие между текстами А–Г и заголовками 1–8. В ответ запишите цифры, в порядке, соответствующем буквам. Используйте каждую цифру только один раз. В задании есть один лишний заголовок.

1. Residents of the North Pole
2. Born to live in cold weather
3. Life is getting harder
4. Sometimes they are similar to us
5. Hunting strategies
6. Home upbringing for bears
7. Changes in population
8. Good food is important

A. Polar bears started to evolve from brown bears about 5 million years ago. Unlike bears living on land, they are white in colour and their fur is very thick. It helps them to survive on sea ice and swim in cold waters. Polar bears are really big — adult males normally weigh from 350 to 550 kg. Females are smaller.

The bears' large paws distribute their weight when they move on thin ice, and their tails are short to conserve heat.

B. Polar bears occupy one of the planet's coldest environments, the Arctic. They prefer northern areas like Canada, Greenland, Alaska, Russia and Norway. Scientists have identified 19 populations of polar bears spread across four different regions of the Arctic. Although many children's books show polar bears and penguins together, the two are found at different poles.

C. These Arctic giants have no natural enemies. Their diet is based on seals. Other sources of food for polar bears are Arctic plants, and also geese, bird eggs and fish. They can eat a wide range of foods but only marine mammals, like seals and beluga whales, are able to provide them with all the necessary proteins and vitamins to survive in the icy environment.

D. Bears catch seals from ice platforms. They usually wait for seals near their breathing holes — the openings in the ice the seals use to breathe. In autumn, seals cut out breathing holes in the ice and keep them through the winter and polar bears locate the holes with their powerful sense of smell. Polar bears can also attack seals sleeping on the ice.

E. Polar bears spend lots of time hunting seals on sea ice or from large drifting blocks of ice. However, due to global warming sea ice is melting. As a result, bears have to hunt in the water, which is less successful and very risky. Polar bears are good swimmers but they cannot swim long distances and often drown. They don't have enough food to gain enough fat and their newborn cubs are weaker than they used to be.

F. Normally, a female bear builds a den (a tunnel in the ice with two rooms) where she gives birth to two cubs. They are born very small, only about half a kilo, but they grow quickly on their mother's rich milk. For about two years, cubs depend totally on their mothers for food and for survival skills — the mothers teach them how to hunt and survive in the harsh realities of life.

G. Native people, who have lived side by side with polar bears for centuries, say that in many ways bears are like humans. When they are not busy hunting, they play, mock fight or chase each other. Their nose-to-nose greeting usually means some request, for example, a request for food. Some scientists claim they have watched polar bears sharing their food and even performing some eating rituals like greeting their host and saying thank you after a meal.

The Best Job in the World

Have you ever heard of the Great Barrier Reef? It is the world's largest coral reef system along the eastern coast of Australia. In February 2009 an extraordinary position was advertised by the Australian Tourism Office. The advertisement ran that the Great Barrier Reef needed a caretaker for half a year. It was for a special person who would look after the Reef.

The job offered a large salary, free accommodation in a luxury villa, and transportation there and around the islands. All expenses would be paid: the winner wouldn't need to spend any extra money on anything.

The job's duties were pretty simple. You could only dream of such requirements. First, the person had to speak English and swim well. Second, on the island his responsibility included writing a weekly Internet blog. That's right, weekly, not even daily! The job description also required the successful applicant to explore the islands of the Great Barrier Reef, swim, make friends with the locals and generally enjoy the tropical climate and lifestyle. A real dream!

Within the first 2 days of the contest, the tourism office received more than seven thousand online applications. All told, 34,000 people of all different nationalities applied. Each made and presented a 60-second video resume. They had to be creative and they were. In the end 16 people were chosen, who flew to Australia for the final selection. The candidates were interviewed and the winner was Ben Southall from the UK.

Ben greatly enjoyed the dream job he had got. He realised that people knew very little about planet earth and its treasures. Living in big cities, they forgot how important the flora and fauna of this world were. Every time Ben went outdoors, he could discover something new. "Every time I dived or went underwater, I forgot about all the troubles above water and concentrated on living in the moment. It was a good way to clean the mind and build respect for the natural world," Ben said.

Ben's life on the island was not just fun. It was very busy, busier than most people imagined, and certainly busier than Ben himself had imagined. He worked seven days a week and up to 19 hours a day. The Best Job included travelling to over 60 islands of the Reef almost every day. It was not just looking after the Reef, Ben had a lot of meetings, press conferences and interviews. He was getting a lot of attention all the time and he couldn't get away from it. That was probably the hardest part of the job.

Moreover, any adventure has a certain degree of risk. Swimming and diving on the Great Barrier Reef was not different. Ben had to deal with whales, sharks and other huge sea creatures. Surprisingly, the most dangerous thing was a small jellyfish about the size of a little finger. It's considered to be extremely poisonous and Ben was stung by it. He had to spend a couple of days in hospital but luckily recovered after a course of antibiotics.

Ben often says that the project has taught him a few valuable lessons. Working with the Internet is one of those jobs you can do 24 hours a day. Ben realised it was hard to separate life and work, but this he had to do. He also said: "I've learned that we get one life on earth so we have to use it. There'll always be other countries to visit, other people to meet and other adventures to meet. This is what I wish to do. I'm planning to go to Asia in a few years time".

The Best Job in the World

Have you ever heard of the Great Barrier Reef? It is the world's largest coral reef system along the eastern coast of Australia. In February 2009 an extraordinary position was advertised by the Australian Tourism Office. The advertisement ran that the Great Barrier Reef needed a caretaker for half a year. It was for a special person who would look after the Reef.

The job offered a large salary, free accommodation in a luxury villa, and transportation there and around the islands. All expenses would be paid: the winner wouldn't need to spend any extra money on anything.

The job's duties were pretty simple. You could only dream of such requirements. First, the person had to speak English and swim well. Second, on the island his responsibility included writing a weekly Internet blog. That's right, weekly, not even daily! The job description also required the successful applicant to explore the islands of the Great Barrier Reef, swim, make friends with the locals and generally enjoy the tropical climate and lifestyle. A real dream!

Within the first 2 days of the contest, the tourism office received more than seven thousand online applications. All told, 34,000 people of all different nationalities applied. Each made and presented a 60-second video resume. They had to be creative and they were. In the end 16 people were chosen, who flew to Australia for the final selection. The candidates were interviewed and the winner was Ben Southall from the UK.

Ben greatly enjoyed the dream job he had got. He realised that people knew very little about planet earth and its treasures. Living in big cities, they forgot how important the flora and fauna of this world were. Every time Ben went outdoors, he could discover something new. "Every time I dived or went underwater, I forgot about all the troubles above water and concentrated on living in the moment. It was a good way to clean the mind and build respect for the natural world," Ben said.

Ben's life on the island was not just fun. It was very busy, busier than most people imagined, and certainly busier than Ben himself had imagined. He worked seven days a week and up to 19 hours a day. The Best Job included travelling to over 60 islands of the Reef almost every day. It was not just looking after the Reef, Ben had a lot of meetings, press conferences and interviews. He was getting a lot of attention all the time and he couldn't get away from it. That was probably the hardest part of the job.

Задание С1

You have 30 minutes to do this task. You have received a letter from your English-speaking pen friend Ben.

... I am very busy now preparing for my exams but yesterday I went to the cinema with my friends. We saw a new film about Sherlock Holmes. You've probably seen it too. ...

What kinds of films do you like? Where do you prefer watching films — in the cinema or at home and why? What would you make a film about if you had a chance?...

Write her a letter and answer her 3 questions. Write 100–120 words. Remember the rules of letter writing.

Пояснение.

Dear Ben,

Thanks for your last letter, and sorry I couldn't answer you earlier, exams as well. No, I haven't seen that film yet.

I like to watch many kinds of movies: from old ones to the moderns. My favorite genre is thriller, because it's very scary and unpredictable. I watch films almost every day at home, but I have to admit that watching them on wide screen is much cooler. All the special effects and the way the actors play seems way more impressive. If I make a film one day it will be related with biography, my childhood and the people who surround me. In other words It will be very intimate.

Write back soon.

Best wishes,

Emma

Venus is one of the hottest planets in the Solar system. The temperature on its surface is 482 degrees. This unfriendly place looks much the same as the Earth 4 billion years ago. Both planets were formed from the same gas cloud but Venus lost most of its water and atmosphere. This happened because the planet turns very slowly. As a result, now it has no magnetic field to protect it from the Sun's winds. The planet has turned into a lifeless desert. Most space modules that were sent to Venus, could not work on the planet more than two hours. The acidic clouds and high pressure quickly made them absolutely useless.

You are going to give a talk about your free time. You will have to start in 1.5 minutes and will speak for not more than 2 minutes.

Remember to say:

- whether you have a lot of free time, and why, or why not;
- what you enjoy doing in your free time;
- what your Sunday afternoons are like.

You have to talk continuously.

Пояснение.

I would like to start with the idea that most of the people have enough free time to relax. But the majority of them always complain that they need more and more. I think that you just have to be responsible for a wise usage of your free time. Speaking about me, I'm usually busy doing homework. But I still have enough free time to play with my friends. Or, for example, sometimes I prefer to watch a new movie in the cinema. I would say that I have enough free time to do everything that I've planned. During my recreation I enjoy having fun with my friends from school. We usually play football together. But my favourite day of the week is Sunday because I go to the pool in the early morning. Then I meet with my friends and we watch a movie together. In summary, I should say that having a lot of free time is great.
