Пояснение.

Dialogue A

A: Can I help you?

B: Yes... I need a T-shirt and a pair of trainers for my PE class.

A: I see. You can try on this T-shirt. It looks like your size.

B: But it's green. And I need white. The whole class should wear the same colour and the teacher is strict about it.

A: Don't worry, I'll fetch you a white one in a minute. Try this T-shirt just for the size.

Dialogue B

A: How long are you going to stay here?

B: I don't know... For a while... I still need to do the exercises for my back and legs.

A: You've been exercising for an hour already! Isn't that enough? Look, your T-shirt is wet.

B: It's just the way the T-shirt should look if you want to keep fit.

A: Fine. I'm leaving then. I have some other things to do and I can't spend all my life on the treadmill. Not even for a great athletic look.

Dialogue C

A: You look tired. Why?

B: Well, it's been a hard day... I had to sit an exam. And I had to shop for some sports wear, which takes me lots of energy every time.

A: Yes, I know you hate shopping but it's no reason to look so unhappy. And to starve. The tea you've had is definitely not enough. You need to eat something.

B: And what are you having? It smells delicious.

A: Vegetables and beans. Yummy. And I believe it's exactly what you need now.

Dialogue D

A: What's wrong? You are very unfocused today. Are you unwell?

B: No, I'm just feeling hungry. I skipped my breakfast in the morning and can't concentrate on studying now.

A: You have to. Now it's too late to go to the canteen. And we can't skip this lesson, can we? It's pretty complicated stuff the teacher is going to present. If we miss it, we'll have problems with the home assignment.

B: Yes, I know. But all I can think about is a warm sandwich.

A: We'll buy one ... in 45 minutes, as soon as this is over. I'll had an apple pie, or something, too.

B: Ok. Do you have a spare pen by the way? It looks like I've lost mine.

A—4 Can I help you?...You can try on this T-shirt. It looks like your size. Мы слышим разговор покупателя и продавца, покупателю нужна футболка и кроссовки, продавец предлагает примерить футболку и т.д.

B—5 I still need to do the exercises for my back... I can't spend all my life on the treadmill. Речь идет о физических упражнениях и тренажерах.

C—1 And what are you having? It smells delicious. Речь идет о еде, один из говорящих уже ест.

D—2 And we can't skip this lesson, can we?... in 45 minutes, as soon as this is over. Разговаривают двое одноклассников.

Пояснение.

Speaker A. I love sports. But I've never been very extreme. Recently my friend had a ski holiday in the mountains. But I chose to stay at home. First: I hate cold. I don't enjoy staying outdoors longer than half an hour. Second: I found ski boots so heavy and uncomfortable. And the last but the main reason: is that I could fall over and hurt myself.

Speaker B. I think that winter is the best season of the year and I take every opportunity to do winter sports. I like skiing best of all. First of all it's very exciting to ski down the slope. Lots of people from different places go to skiing and I like to meet new friends. And finally, when you ski you enjoy the wonderful nature, the beautiful landscape and the fresh air of the mountains.

Speaker C. I sometimes go to the ski resorts with my friends. However, when I first tried this sport it was a great failure. I spent about half an hour putting the boots on! They were heavy, and it was difficult to move in them. Anyway, I got to the hill and fastened the skis and started to slide down! I wasn't able to stop! It was really frightening. At last, I fell over and stopped. Very painful.

Speaker D. I ski quite serious and I often take part in different competitions: local, national, international. Safety is very important for this sport. Apart from quality skis, good boots are important. They should be strong and high to protect the ankles. The helmet is also necessary. I also wear sport glasses and the skiing mask to protect my face from the sun, the wind and the snow.

Speaker E. When we go skiing we always stay in one and the same hotel, it's in a very beautiful place in the mountains and sometimes even the international competitions are held there. Apart from several ski centers where we hire skis there are restaurants there and medical center, different souvenir shops and several ski-lifts that can take you up to the top of the mountains very quickly.

A—4: I've never been very extreme... I chose to stay at home... I hate cold... I find ski boots very heavy and uncomfortable...

B—6: I do winter sports... skiing best of all... enjoy wonderful nature and fresh air...

C—3: However, when I first try... it was a great failure...

D—5: Safety is very important... helmet is necessary... quality skis...

E—2: We stay in the same hotel... there are restaurants, a medical centre, several ski lifts...

Kate: My parents are completely different; they travel a lot because of their job, but they've never taken me with them.

Kevin: I see.

Kate: But this time we are travelling all together as a family. Today we are going to have a guided excursion of the historical part of Paris. Are you here on your own?

Kevin: No. It's a school trip. The whole class are here and two teachers to supervise us.

Kate: Oh, it must be interesting travelling in a large group.

Kate: Was it a sports competition?

Kevin: No, it was a competition for school rock bands.

Kate: You're a musician?

Kevin: Sort of. In our band I play the drums.

Kate: Do you see music as your career? Everyone nowadays wants to be either a celebrity or a computer genius.

Kevin: Not in my case. Music is just for fun. I'm deeply interested in physics and biology. I think that absolutely fantastic discoveries are awaiting us in these fields. They could completely change our idea of the universe and of ourselves.

Kate: So, you want to do scientific research?

Kevin: Exactly.

Kate: But that means getting a very good education...

Kevin: Yes. This is my last year at school and I hope to start my university course this summer. I've got good grades and it makes my plan sound quite realistic.

Kate: Yes, it looks like a good one. You seem to have planned your life very well. I can't even make up my mind on what souvenirs to buy for my friends back home...

Kevin: I've found a shop with some old photos of the city. I bought several pictures there as gifts for my friends. They're not expensive and the images are lovely.

Kate: Yeah, I think that would be better than heavy souvenir mugs or T-shirts with prints. Could you tell me where the shop is?

The usual. I overslept. I didn't hear the alarm clock and woke up only when my mum called me from her work.

A. The world's first university was established in India in 700 BC, where more than 10,500 students from around the world studied more than 60 different subjects. The training was conducted in Sanskrit. Nowadays Sanskrit is considered to be the mother of all the European languages. Its elements can be traced in most of them.

B. The most frequently visited place in India is Delhi, the capital of the country. It seems to be divided into two parts. New Delhi is a modern city with hi-tech architecture, tourist attractions and modern facilities. Old Delhi is several centuries old, with narrow streets, ancient churches and noisy bazaars. Lots of people live in slums without the most essential facilities like toilets and running water.

C. People all over the world know of India's greatest river, the Ganges. It is the subject of thousands of prayers. The river looks extremely beautiful in the morning light. It is believed that bathing in the Ganges helps to cure all kinds of diseases and can improve your life in general. It has become a common ritual for pilgrims to gather by the river in the mornings.

D. The most famous and often visited Indian historic area is the Golden Triangle. It consists of the cities of Delhi, Agra and Jaipur. Lying in the south-east, Agra attracts tourists with its iconic image of the Taj Mahal palace, which is one of the eight wonders of the modern world. To the south-west is the colourful 'Pink City' of Jaipur, known for its Palace of Winds.

E. Indian climate differs from one part of the country to another. The air is cool and fresh in the mountains but in the plains it is usually very hot and dry so even a short trip can be very hard for an inexperienced traveller. That is why tourists are always glad to have a rest at one of the numerous stations in the hills. There they can enjoy a nice cup of real Indian tea, the most refreshing drink in such a climate.

F. India is not all history. It is also famous for its Bollywood industry, which produces love stories and action films. Indian films have always had their own style, rich in music and dancing. Though the industry is still developing, many of Indian film stars have received Oscar prizes and are known throughout the world. The home of Bollywood is Bombay, also known as a busy port and the country's commercial centre.

G. There is an unusual treasure hidden in the Indian mountains. These are striking ancient temples cut in the rocks. For example, the Buddhist cave temples at Ajanta were built at least 2,000 years ago. Inside the caves on the walls tourists can see pictures of people's lives and animal images. Some researchers believe that the interpretation of the images can help us to learn a lot about people's lives in ancient times.

Задание 10 № 988 тип 10*The Toy House

The history of the Wooden Toy Museum begins with the trade fair that took place in our town more than three hundred years ago. It was an important event — peasants, craftsmen, and merchants came here to sell and buy goods and to make arrangements for further cooperation. There was timber and iron, grain and flour, meat and honey, cows, hens and ducks for sale and barter. As the town was famous for its toy making tradition the local craftsmen took advantage of the event too and demonstrated their crafts to visitors from neighbouring towns and villages. Hundreds of carved wooden dolls, birds, animals, clowns and other toys were displayed on large stalls. Some of them were painted and some were not but they looked attractive either way.

A rich merchant happened to visit the fair. He was accompanied by his family. To keep the children occupied while the father was busy on business, he let them go to see the toys and promised to buy one toy for each of the four children. It was a hard choice for the children to make — there were plenty of toys. How could they find the best one? The youngest daughter, who was only four, didn't hesitate. She was determined to get the wonderful dolls' house she saw on one of the stalls. It was a real wonder — the door and the windows were decorated with wooden fretwork, the house had a porch and a chimney, and there was furniture inside! The little girl couldn't take her eyes off it and desperately looked forward to the moment when her father finished his business and bought it for her. The business however kept the man busy till very late at night and when he came, the children had been put to bed. They were promised that their father would buy the toys the next morning but he never did.

The weather turned windy that night. The dry wind picked up the sparks from the cooking fires and in seconds the whole fair was on fire. Everyone rushed to rescue their goods, but the wooden toys had no chance of surviving.

When the little daughter of the merchant found out that the fantastic doll house had been burnt, she kept very quiet and was unhappy for several days. It felt to her as if a real house had been destroyed. The merchant loved his daughter very much and to console her he promised to make a real house exactly like the lost one. The house would be full of different toys which the local craftsmen would exhibit there not only during the fair but all year round.

And such a house was built. It's certainly not the building that houses the toy collections now — the original construction was destroyed long ago and several new versions have been constructed at the same location since then. Now it's a fairly large brick house, much more fire-resistant than its predecessors.

To tell the truth, there's no solid evidence that the story about the merchant's daughter is real. Historians say that it's no more than a legend but the locals insist it is true. Who is right and who is wrong? It doesn't matter much as long as the Wooden Toy Museum exists and gives joy to children and grown-up visitors.

The fair originated as a craft fair.

The Toy House

The history of the Wooden Toy Museum begins with the trade fair that took place in our town more than three hundred years ago. It was an important event — peasants, craftsmen, and merchants came here to sell and buy goods and to make arrangements for further cooperation. There was timber and iron, grain and flour, meat and honey, cows, hens and ducks for sale and barter. As the town was famous for its toy making tradition the local craftsmen took advantage of the event too and demonstrated their crafts to visitors from neighbouring towns and villages. Hundreds of carved wooden dolls, birds, animals, clowns and other toys were displayed on large stalls. Some of them were painted and some were not but they looked attractive either way.

A rich merchant happened to visit the fair. He was accompanied by his family. To keep the children occupied while the father was busy on business, he let them go to see the toys and promised to buy one toy for each of the four children. It was a hard choice for the children to make — there were plenty of toys. How could they find the best one? The youngest daughter, who was only four, didn't hesitate. She was determined to get the wonderful dolls' house she saw on one of the stalls. It was a real wonder — the door and the windows were decorated with wooden fretwork, the house had a porch and a chimney, and there was furniture inside! The little girl couldn't take her eyes off it and desperately looked forward to the moment when her father finished his business and bought it for her. The business however kept the man busy till very late at night and when he came, the children had been put to bed. They were promised that their father would buy the toys the next morning but he never did.

The weather turned windy that night. The dry wind picked up the sparks from the cooking fires and in seconds the whole fair was on fire. Everyone rushed to rescue their goods, but the wooden toys had no chance of surviving.

When the little daughter of the merchant found out that the fantastic doll house had been burnt, she kept very quiet and was unhappy for several days. It felt to her as if a real house had been destroyed. The merchant loved his daughter very much and to console her he promised to make a real house exactly like the lost one. The house would be full of different toys which the local craftsmen would exhibit there not only during the fair but all year round.

And such a house was built. It's certainly not the building that houses the toy collections now — the original construction was destroyed long ago and several new versions have been constructed at the same location since then. Now it's a fairly large brick house, much more fire-resistant than its predecessors.

To tell the truth, there's no solid evidence that the story about the merchant's daughter is real. Historians say that it's no more than a legend but the locals insist it is true. Who is right and who is wrong? It doesn't matter much as long as the Wooden Toy Museum exists and gives joy to children and grown-up visitors.

The fair was held in the village every year.

St. Petersburg, Russia
November, 30

Dear Ben,

Thanks for your last letter. Your grandmother is so cool! I love my granny, but she always gives me boring presents like socks or something else which doesn't match my wishes at all.

In my family we celebrate many holidays together, such as Easter, Christmas, Birthdays of each of us, but my favorite holiday is New Year, because since I was little it is related for me with some kind of magic. I love to make a wish in the last seconds of the old year, and I'm sure that those wishes are coming true! The best present I ever received was a bike from my parents. I was dreaming about it for ages!

Write back soon.

Best wishes,

Emma

You are going to give a talk about TV. You will have to start in 1.5 minutes and will speak for not more than 2 minutes.

Remember to say:

- whether watching TV is still a popular pastime with teenagers, and why, or why not;
- how many hours a week you watch TV;
- what you dislike most about TV.

You have to talk continuously.

Пояснение.

Today millions of people around the world enjoy sitting in front of the TV and watching their favourite programs and shows. But we should admit that today television is not as popular among kids as it is among adults. I guess that teenagers don't watch TV. Most of them have computers with the internet access. That is why if they want to watch some show or a movie, they use their computer. Speaking about me, I watch TV three or four hours a week. Sometimes I get bored from playing computer games. So I decide to watch TV programs. The main fact which I don't like about TV is that it is a waste of time. Rather than to do something important, most people get distracted by sitting in front of the TV. In conclusion, I think that televisions are mostly preferred by elderly people. But essentially watching TV is a waste of time.
