Пояснение.

Dialog A.

- Hi, I thought I was late.
- The bell is gone. But Ms Morgan isn't here yet.
- That's a piece of luck.
- I thought I was going to be late too. I was looking for my mobile phone which turned out to be on the bottom of my bag. I always feel so nervous before tests.
- It's not only you. Have you managed to revise the vocabulary?
- As good as... Oh no! I forgot all my essay!

Dialog B.

- What are you doing Tommy?
- Writing an essay about mobile phones in our life. It seems like our French teacher can't do without our clumsy paragraphs full of mistakes.
- It's very good of her, I think. Writing essays regularly is very useful for learning the language.
- Yeah, probably.
- I hope you'll be through with your homework by 8. Mrs. Clock and Sandra are coming for dinner.
- That explains the delicious smell from the kitchen. Yes, I'll do my best. Now I'm motivated.

Dialog C.

- Who are you texting?
- A friend. She is still at school and I want her to find out about my test result.
- Are you heading home now?
- Yes. If we're lucky we will catch the 4'o'clock bus. I would really like to catch it or we'll get cold. It's so windy today.
- Look, there it is. It's a bit earlier today or my watches a bit slow.

Dialog D.

- Pleas, stop texting. You're distracting me!
- There is nothing to be distracted from, it's so boring! And if you went for the pop corn I would have left ages to go.
- But I like it! It's a classical psychological drama and I have to write an essay about it for my French course.
- Are you saying that I have to watch it for the very end? Then you buy me another bucket of the pop corn.
- Agreed. But turn off your mobile phone right now! Ok?

A–3: Miss Morgan isn't here yet... I'm nervous before the test.

B–4: What are you doing, Tony (mother)... smells in the kitchen... free for dinner.

C–5: windy today... the bus is coming.

D–1: boring drama, popcorn... watch to a very end.

Пояснение.

Speaker A. I think that sports and exercises are absolutely necessary for young people. Unfortunately there is no gym nearby and the local swimming pool is far from my house too. But there are still lots of opportunities anyway. I start my day with physical exercises. I exercise right in my room. I do some gymnastics and then walk to school. I almost never take a bus.

Speaker B. On Sunday I get up a little earlier than usually and go jogging. It normally takes an hour or so. Then we have breakfast and then if the weather is ok, we go to the picnic or to the amusement park all together, with the family. If it rains, we go to the cinema. And in the evening I have a half an hour swim in the swimming pool. We are lucky to have one nearby.

Speaker C. I spend almost all my free time here. It's a good place to do various sports from gymnastics to swimming. I usually buy a pass for a month. It gives me an opportunity to use gym and swimming pool as long as I want to. There are also other facilities for example a cafe where they serve a tasty bones or sandwiches. Naturally the whole place gets crowdie on the weekend.

Speaker D. I believe that young people should do sports to keep fit. Lucy tries to avoid sports at all casts but she doesn't want to look fat or anything, so her way to look fit is dieting. She only eats one meal a day and avoids loots of products like eggs, butter, milk and even some vegetables. I think it can harm her health. But she won't listen to me and we even argued at this point.

Speaker E. sports are important to keep fit. But I think that eating the inappropriate food is very important too. I'm not talking about dieting. I just say that if you prefer a simple food like vegetables, fish and eggs to sweets and bones. If you drink simple water or tea instead of sweet fizzy drinks it will do only good. Fast food is usually not the best choice.

A–6: I exercise right in my room... I start my day with physical exercises...

B–1: On Sunday I get up later than usual... if the weather is fine we go to a picnic...

C–4: I spend almost all my free time there... a pass for a month... other facilities... a cafe...

D–2: I believe young people should do sports... Lucy tries to avoid sports... I think it's harmful for her health... we quarrelon this point...

E–5: eating properly food is very important...

Monica: Hi, Tom! Happy birthday!

Tom: Oh, hi Monica, I'm glad you found the time to come.

Monica: It wasn't easy, really. It's exam time. And I still have to pass two exams before Christmas.

Tom: You will, don't worry. There is still two weeks before Christmas.

Monica: It's not a lot! Anyway, it's your special day today so this is for you.

Tom: What's this? It looks like a pack of sweets.

Monica: Just take of the package and you'll see.

Tom: Oh, ski sunglasses, they are beautiful, Monica. You knew just what to get. I'm going to a skiing holiday and your present is just in time.

Monica: I'm glad to hear it.

Tom: Please, come in. Let me put your capote and gloves in here. You are the first one, actually.

Monica: Oh, who else is coming?

Tom: Some mates from my baseball school team, some class mates and my older sister. You remember that she is a university student, don't you? She studies in Canada and works there two but she came here especially for my birthday.

Monica: Lucky you.

Tom: Yes, she always is taking care of me. Now it looks funny when I'm taller than her but she still treats me like a child.

Monica: But it feels good to know that someone cares for you. Are you going to that Canadian university too?

Tom: I don't know yet. I still have 2 more years at school anyway, so I'll decide later.

Monica: Your point. Oooh. You've got some nice pictures on the wall.

Tom: It's my mum's.

Monica: Is she an artist? I didn't know that!

Tom: Kind of. She does it as a hobby. Our family and friends like them.

Monica: She's definitely has got a talent.

Tom: Yeah, but unfortunately she doesn't have much time for painting. She is an economist in a large company and it often means working long hours. Sometimes she has to drive to her office even on weekend.

Monica: Yes, I can understand that. Is she going to be at the party?

Tom: Yes, but she is doing it a bit later. She has to get my birthday cake.

Monica: Where from?

Tom: From my grandmother's. we never buy a birthday cakes in a shop. My granny always make them by herself and they're delicious. She's brilliant at it, you'll see.

Monica: I'm dying to try it. Homemade things are always better. (doorbell) oh, so more guests have arrived.

Задание 9 № 1182 тип 9

Прочитайте тексты и установите соответствие между текстами А–Г и заголовками 1–8. В ответ запишите цифры, в порядке, соответствующем буквам. Используйте каждую цифру только один раз. В задании есть один лишний заголовок.

1. Residents of the North Pole
2. Born to live in cold weather
3. Life is getting harder
4. Sometimes they are similar to us
5. Hunting strategies
6. Home upbringing for bears
7. Changes in population
8. Good food is important

A. Polar bears started to evolve from brown bears about 5 million years ago. Unlike bears living on land, they are white in colour and their fur is very thick. It helps them to survive on sea ice and swim in cold waters. Polar bears are really big — adult males normally weigh from 350 to 550 kg. Females are smaller. The bears' large paws distribute their weight when they move on thin ice, and their tails are short to conserve heat.

B. Polar bears occupy one of the planet's coldest environments, the Arctic. They prefer northern areas like Canada, Greenland, Alaska, Russia and Norway. Scientists have identified 19 populations of polar bears spread across four different regions of the Arctic. Although many children's books show polar bears and penguins together, the two are found at different poles.

C. These Arctic giants have no natural enemies. Their diet is based on seals. Other sources of food for polar bears are Arctic plants, and also geese, bird eggs and fish. They can eat a wide range of foods but only marine mammals, like seals and beluga whales, are able to provide them with all the necessary proteins and vitamins to survive in the icy environment.

D. Bears catch seals from ice platforms. They usually wait for seals near their breathing holes — the openings in the ice the seals use to breathe. In autumn, seals cut out breathing holes in the ice and keep them through the winter and polar bears locate the holes with their powerful sense of smell. Polar bears can also attack seals sleeping on the ice.

E. Polar bears spend lots of time hunting seals on sea ice or from large drifting blocks of ice. However, due to global warming sea ice is melting. As a result, bears have to hunt in the water, which is less successful and very risky. Polar bears are good swimmers but they cannot swim long distances and often drown. They don't have enough food to gain enough fat and their newborn cubs are weaker than they used to be.

F. Normally, a female bear builds a den (a tunnel in the ice with two rooms) where she gives birth to two cubs. They are born very small, only about half a kilo, but they grow quickly on their mother's rich milk. For about two years, cubs depend totally on their mothers for food and for survival skills — the mothers teach them how to hunt and survive in the harsh realities of life.

G. Native people, who have lived side by side with polar bears for centuries, say that in many ways bears are like humans. When they are not busy hunting, they play, mock fight or chase each other. Their nose-to-nose greeting usually means some request, for example, a request for food. Some scientists claim they have watched polar bears sharing their food and even performing some eating rituals like greeting their host and saying thank you after a meal.

The Best Job in the World

Have you ever heard of the Great Barrier Reef? It is the world's largest coral reef system along the eastern coast of Australia. In February 2009 an extraordinary position was advertised by the Australian Tourism Office. The advertisement ran that the Great Barrier Reef needed a caretaker for half a year. It was for a special person who would look after the Reef.

The job offered a large salary, free accommodation in a luxury villa, and transportation there and around the islands. All expenses would be paid: the winner wouldn't need to spend any extra money on anything.

The job's duties were pretty simple. You could only dream of such requirements. First, the person had to speak English and swim well. Second, on the island his responsibility included writing a weekly Internet blog. That's right, weekly, not even daily! The job description also required the successful applicant to explore the islands of the Great Barrier Reef, swim, make friends with the locals and generally enjoy the tropical climate and lifestyle. A real dream!

Within the first 2 days of the contest, the tourism office received more than seven thousand online applications. All told, 34,000 people of all different nationalities applied. Each made and presented a 60-second video resume. They had to be creative and they were. In the end 16 people were chosen, who flew to Australia for the final selection. The candidates were interviewed and the winner was Ben Southall from the UK.

Ben greatly enjoyed the dream job he had got. He realised that people knew very little about planet earth and its treasures. Living in big cities, they forgot how important the flora and fauna of this world were. Every time Ben went outdoors, he could discover something new. "Every time I dived or went underwater, I forgot about all the troubles above water and concentrated on living in the moment. It was a good way to clean the mind and build respect for the natural world," Ben said.

Ben's life on the island was not just fun. It was very busy, busier than most people imagined, and certainly busier than Ben himself had imagined. He worked seven days a week and up to 19 hours a day. The Best Job included travelling to over 60 islands of the Reef almost every day. It was not just looking after the Reef, Ben had a lot of meetings, press conferences and interviews. He was getting a lot of attention all the time and he couldn't get away from it. That was probably the hardest part of the job.

Moreover, any adventure has a certain degree of risk. Swimming and diving on the Great Barrier Reef was not different. Ben had to deal with whales, sharks and other huge sea creatures. Surprisingly, the most dangerous thing was a small jellyfish about the size of a little finger. It's considered to be extremely poisonous and Ben was stung by it. He had to spend a couple of days in hospital but luckily recovered after a course of antibiotics.

Ben often says that the project has taught him a few valuable lessons. Working with the Internet is one of those jobs you can do 24 hours a day. Ben realised it was hard to separate life and work, but this he had to do. He also said: "I've learned that we get one life on earth so we have to use it. The Best Job in the World

Have you ever heard of the Great Barrier Reef? It is the world's largest coral reef system along the eastern coast of Australia. In February 2009 an extraordinary position was advertised by the Australian Tourism Office. The advertisement ran that the Great Barrier Reef needed a caretaker for half a year. It was for a special person who would look after the Reef.

The job offered a large salary, free accommodation in a luxury villa, and transportation there and around the islands. All expenses would be paid: the winner wouldn't need to spend any extra money on anything.

The job's duties were pretty simple. You could only dream of such requirements. First, the person had to speak English and swim well. Second, on the island his responsibility included writing a weekly Internet blog. That's right, weekly, not even daily! The job description also required the successful applicant to explore the islands of the Great Barrier Reef, swim, make friends with the locals and generally enjoy the tropical climate and lifestyle. A real dream!

Within the first 2 days of the contest, the tourism office received more than seven thousand online applications. All told, 34,000 people of all different nationalities applied. Each made and presented a 60-second video resume. They had to be creative and they were. In the end 16 people were chosen, who flew to Australia for the final selection. The candidates were interviewed and the winner was Ben Southall from the UK.

Ben greatly enjoyed the dream job he had got. He realised that people knew very little about planet earth and its treasures. Living in big cities, they forgot how important the flora and fauna of this world were. Every time Ben went outdoors, he could discover something new. "Every time I dived or went underwater, I forgot about all the troubles above water and concentrated on living in the moment. It was a good way to clean the mind and build respect for the natural world," Ben said.

Ben's life on the island was not just fun. It was very busy, busier than most people imagined, and certainly busier than Ben himself had imagined. He worked seven days a week and up to 19 hours a day. The Best Job included travelling to over 60 islands of the Reef almost every day. It was not just looking after the Reef, Ben had a lot of meetings, press conferences and interviews. He was getting a lot of attention all the time and he couldn't get away from it. That was probably the hardest part of the job.

Moreover, any adventure has a certain degree of risk. Swimming and diving on the Great Barrier Reef was not different. Ben had to deal with whales, sharks and other huge sea creatures. Surprisingly, the most dangerous thing was a small jellyfish about the size of a little finger. It's considered to be extremely poisonous and Ben was stung by it. He had to spend a couple of days in hospital but luckily recovered after a course of antibiotics.

Задание С1

You have 30 minutes to do this task. You have received a letter from your English-speaking pen friend, Ben.

*...I'm really excited about this weekend. Do you know why? I'm packing my bag now for the school camping trip!!! We're going to sleep in tents and cook food on an open fire. And I've never done that before!...
...What important things do you think I should take? Where have you been with your class? What other special events do you have at school? ...*

Write her a letter and answer her 3 questions. Write 100–120 words. Remember the rules of letter writing.

Пояснение.

Dear Ben,

Thanks for your last letter. I'm sorry for not writing you for so long. I was doing a school project.

It's great that you go to the trip, I'm sure that it will be very exciting. I believe that you should take a couple of extra socks, warm shoes and something to eat. Last month I was in a trip with my class, too. We were having a nice time nearby the local lake. We have different types of events at school. For example, we go to museums and theatres once a month and I enjoy such trips. Also we have different sport competitions.

Write back soon.

Best wishes,

Emma

We are always told that we should clean our teeth regularly to keep them healthy and to have fresh breath. It is believed that people started using a kind of paste to clean their teeth around 5000 years ago. However, the ingredients of these tooth powders were very different from ours. For example, the people of ancient Egypt used salt, mint, dried flowers and pepper to create tooth powder. Later, in the 18th century, in some countries in Europe, people brushed their teeth with burnt bread. The first toothpaste appeared in 1890, in Great Britain. At first it was sold in jars. Then special tubes were designed to make the toothpaste more comfortable to use.

You are going to give a talk about your school homework. You will have to start in 1.5 minutes and will speak for not more than 2 minutes.

Remember to say:

- how long it takes you to do your homework;
- what subject you usually start with, and why;
- whether schoolchildren should be given more or less homework, and why.

You have to talk continuously.

Пояснение.

I would like to start with the idea that probably all pupils, including me, don't like doing homework. It is a very boring and time-consuming process. You should spend all your free time to get prepared to school subjects. I have to spend an average of 4 hours a day to get everything done. And this fact really frustrates me. I usually start with the most difficult subject – Maths. I guess it's the only way to finish it. In my opinion, schoolchildren should be given less homework, because they should have enough time for their interests and hobbies. And those activities may not be necessarily related with school. In conclusion, I should say that homework is an essential part of the school life. But it must be limited. I believe that children should have enough time for their hobbies, too.
